LAUREL -- To a committee of the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, which has finally made a recommendation on a proposal to extend Metra rail service from Kenosha to Milwaukee. The committee endorsed the idea last week, but decided to host a series of public hearings before making a final recommendation to SEWPRC. Following years of fits and starts on this issue, SEWRPC Executive Director Phil Evenson was understandably relieved to declare, "The train is back on the track." This is an exciting venture and we're delighted that it now appears to be moving quickly toward final recommendation.
